Pompous Festivities in Berlin in Honor

FAURE TO CALL ON KING LEOPOLD.

No Truth in the Report That Germany Intends to Send Warships to Venezuela to Enforce the Payment of a Railroad Construction Debt.

By Walter Jaeger.

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Nearly as much pomp and ceremony characterized to-day's celebration of the thirty-seventh anniversary of the Kaiser's birthday as were indulged in on the big imperial proclamation jubilee on the 18th inst.

There was also the same "red tape" with respect to the populace which formed the subject of much bitter comment on the part of press and public nine days ago.

The trottoirs of all the principal thoroughfares were again lined with stalwart police, so that the public had but little opportunity to admire the glittering uniforms of the military escorts who were sent to conduct the visiting sovereigns and princes to the Schloss.

Very early in the morning the Empress and her seven children tendered their congratulations to His Majesty.

After breakfast the Kaiser received twenty crowned heads and princes, among them the Kings of Saxony and Wuertemberg and the princes and princesses of the Hohenzollern family.

After this the following notables were permitted to offer their felicitations: The chiefs of the secret service of the military and of the marine cabinet, Privy Coun-ciller Dr. von Lucanus, General of Infantry von Hahnke, Rear Admiral Baron von Soden-Bilman, the commandants of the Imperial Headquarters, Major-General von Plessen and numerous other dignitaries.

This congratulatory, royal, knighted and diplomatic assemblage, after a brief stay in the White Hall, proceeded to the chapel in the Schloss, where a short Thanksgiving service was held.

MANY DECORATED.

In honor of the occasion the Kaiser, decorated a number of already highly privileged subjects. Prince von Hohenlohe, the imperial Chancellor, received the cross of Grand Commander of the order of the House of Hohenzollern, and Baron von Hammerstein-Loxten had to be contented with the plain order of the Red Eagle, second class. The same honor was bestowed on the Minister of the Interior, Baron von der Recke von der Horst.

At the palace in the afternoon the imperial family and the German royalties partook of a birthday banquet. During the banquet the Kaiser received and read a congratulatory telegram from Prince von Bismarck.

RUSSIA MAKING FRIENDS.

Most conspicuous among the brilliantly illuminated bureaucratic structures to-night was that of the Russian Embassy. The Russians seem especially anxious to manifest their devotion. The news has leaked out to-day that on the occasion of the Kaiser's birthday the Czar has sent an especially affectionate letter, in which he expresses the wish that he may soon meet the Emperor in person. In fact, it is rumored that a meeting is already being arranged.

Another meeting of two chief executives will take place, according to reliable information, in the near future. The English press lays much stress on this event. It is said that President Faure will call next month on His Majesty King Leopold of Belgium at the latter's palace in Brussels.
CONVERSION OF A BISMARCK ORGAIN.
A strange change of front is noticeable in to-day's issue of the Hamburger Nachrichten, Bismarck's staunchest organ.

This most conservative of German newspapers advises the Emperor in an elaborate editorial not to permit his foreign policy to be hampered by a lot of "diplomatic sentimentality and narrow minded Ministers." And this is the sheet which has so bitterly opposed the naval increase planned by the Kaiser and his aggressive colonial policy.

It is difficult to surmise which sentiments have been inspired by the aged ex-Chancellor in the Sachsenwald. A 203

The story, which undoubtedly originated from the English press, that Germany intends to dispatch two cruisers to Venezuela in order to force the Government to pay German railroad builders for labor and material furnished, is denied in toto at the Foreign Office.

FINED BY THEIR FELLOWS

Snowballing Schoolboys Punished by a Jury of Their Comrades, and Their Victims as Well.

Fifty boys, pupils of the East Orange (N. J.) High School, are doing penance, self-imposed of snowballing, and many of their chicken-hearted fellows are also being punished for allowing themselves to be prevented from attending school by the snowball fusillade of the fifty.

It was last Tuesday that the snow was right for snowballing, and fifty of the boys during the noon recess made a lot of missiles and lay in wait for those who had gone home for luncheon and were returning. The bombardment was fierce, and it was long after the hour when all were in their seats. The fifty were then notified that they must remain after hours and "see" the principal, and they appointed four of their number to plead for them.

The principal, on his part, named four boys from the senior class to act as their judges. This committee, after considering the matter, sentenced the fifty to a reprimand from Mr. Davey and ten hours' detention after school hours, the ten hours to be served out one hour at a time. The committee further sentenced those who had been too much afraid to go to the school in the face of the shower of snowballs to serve two hours. The sentences are being served.

DEATH IN A MINE IN WALES

Frightful Loss of Life Caused by Explosions and Resulting Fire at Pontypridd.

London, Jan. 27.—Explosions in two coal pits at Pontypridd, Wales, this morning caused a frightful loss of life.

Reports are conflicting as to the number of men who were at work in the pits at the time, some placing it at 80 and others at 100.
All who were in the pit, however, were entombled, and it was at first believed that all were killed, but rescuers have succeeded thus far in taking out forty-two alive, and are hopeful of saving still others.

The work of rescue has also disclosed the fact that at least forty-three miners were killed. The bodies of only fifteen of the victims of the disaster, however, have been taken from the pits.

The explosions were quickly followed by fire, and the shafts have been destroyed. It is believed that the bodies of many of the victims have been cremated.

ON A BAR WITH HER TUG.

Schooner John W. Linnell Runs Ashore with the Tug Sea King, but the Latter Is Floated.

Sea Isle City, N. J., Jan. 27.—The four-masted schooner John W. Linnell, of Boston, in charge of Captain S. N. Handy, which was in tow of the ocean tug Sea King, bound from Boston to Philadelphia, went ashore on Townsend's Inlet bar at 5 o'clock this morning. The tug also struck, and both were discovered to be fast on the bar.

Four men went to their assistance and were able at high tide this morning to pull the Sea King off. The schooner is still deeply imbedded in the sand, and there is some doubt as to whether she can be saved. She is of 1,000 tons burden.

FOUND THIEVES IN HER ROOM.

Mrs. Bean Surprises Two, She Screams, and the Police Capture One.

When Mrs. George Beane, of No. 105 Christopher street, returned from a shopping trip yesterday afternoon, she was astonished to find two strange men in her apartment trying on her husband's clothes.
She screamed, whereupon one of the men grabbed her by the throat and threw her to the floor. Both of them ran out, pursued by Mrs. Beane.

Policeman Gayne, of the Charles Street Station, who happened in the vicinity, made chase to one of the men and captured him. He gave his name as Edward Gordon, of No. 421 Hudson street. He was locked up. The other man escaped.

THREW EGGS AT AHLWARDT.

Silverman Pleaded Guilty and Was Fined $25 or Five Days' Jail.

Louis Silverman, thirty-five years old, of No. 88 Suffolk street, was arraigned before Justice Jerome, in the Court of Special Sessions, yesterday and given the alternative of paying a fine of $25 or five days in jail, for throwing eggs at Herr Ahlwardt in Cooper Union, December 12.

Counselor O'Reilly made a vigorous plea for clemency, his client admitting the charge. Justice Jerome said: "In this case, where the legal rights may be, the Court does not feel in sympathy with any member of the community who seeks to create disturbance by throwing eggs at any man or woman. Were it otherwise the Court would imprison this defendant.
Nevertheless, the right of citizens to hold meetings must be respected." He then announced his verdict.

CAUGHT FIRE IN THE STREET.

Letta Soneschein's Clothes Were Ablaze, but Her Father Saved Her.

While Letta Soneschein, ten years old, was playing in front of her home at No.
217 Henry street, yesterday afternoon, her dress caught fire in some unknown way.
There were several other children with her at the time, and when her dress began to blaze they ran, leaving her standing in the street screaming and beating her clothing with her hands.

The girl's father, Elias Soneschein, heard Letta's cries and ran from his room to the street. The girl by this time had fainted. Soneschein hastily tore her burning clothing from her body. Her injuries, though not fatal, will confine her to the hospital for at least a month, and she will have many scars for life. Her father had his hands severely burned.

TWO ARRESTS FOR ONE CRIME.

Mrs. Philps Identifies Another Man as the One Who Robbed Her.

A second man with a deformed hand was arraigned before Magistrate Shum, in the Yorkville Court, yesterday, on the charge of having drugged and robbed Mrs.
Mildred A. Philps at her home, No. 535 East Seventy-second street, the prisoner, Nathan Hirschberg, eighteen years old, of No. 233 East Fifty-seventh street, was identified by Mrs. Philps and held in $1,500 bail for at least a month, and she will lose two fingers of his left hand.

Mrs. Philps has previously identified Frederick Veltner, who is minus three fingers and a thumb, as the thief.

A DIVORCE WILL NOT PART THE DRAYTONS.

Mrs. William Astor Is Reported to Have Brought About a Reconciliation.

The Suit Likely to Be Withdrawn, and the Case Very Quietly Settled Out of Court.

THEIR FRIENDS DREADED PUBLICITY.

Preparation on Both Sides Has Been Going Steadily on, but Neither Party Was Anxious for Trial—Statement of Counsel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Coleman Drayton have unhappily settled the divorce suits each brought against the other and there is to be no court trial. This statement was made on the best authority last night. It is also said that Mrs. William Astor, Mrs.
Drayton's mother, has effected a reconciliation between the couple. That they will be reconciled is now confidently expected.

It was three years ago when society on both sides of the Atlantic Ocean was startled by the attempts to fight a duel made by H. Allsop Borrowe and J. Coleman Drayton.

BEYOND THE PALE.

Mr. Drayton challenged Borrowe while the two were in London, where Mrs. Drayton also was at the time. The parties went to Paris. Harry Van Milbank, a noted English duellist, and a former American newspaper man named Fox, appearing as Borrowe's seconds. The matter was submitted to a court composed of a French nobleman, who declared that Mr.
Drayton had placed himself beyond the pale by having practically condoned any alleged dishonor done to him by Borrowe.

A great deal of literature, in the shape of letters and judgments upon the code duello, and the causes which led up to the Drayton challenge, was circulated.
It was finally determined that there would be no duel and dual parties except the French judges returned to England. There Bor-rowe and "Modoc" Fox, one of his seconds, quarreled over the publication of certain facts in the newspapers, and it was reported that Borrowe and Fox fought in Belgium, Fox receiving a slight wound.

DRAYTON WENT HOME.

Drayton took his five children and came to this country. Learning that he was to sail, Borrowe and Milbank came on the same steamer, and it was rumored that they would make an effort to engage Mr.
Drayton in a fight on this side the water.
Milbank was a guest at the home of Borrowe's father, on West Eleventh street, for some weeks. On the day of their arrival in New York Borrowe said in an interview that previous to sailing and after the publication of the scandal and the preliminary, he had called upon Mrs.
Drayton at her London house to bid farewell, and he had been graciously received.

Mr. Drayton went almost immediately to his country house in New Jersey and later placed his children at school. Some time later Mrs. Drayton came home in with the body of her father, Mr. William Astor, who died in Paris.

PUBLICITY DREADED.

Mrs. William Astor and Mrs. Drayton's brother, John Jacob Astor, have been unremitting in their endeavors to prevent a public trial of the divorce suits. First, Mr. Drayton fled his suit in New Jersey, naming Hallett Allsop Borrowe as co-respondent. Then Mrs. Drayton fled a counter suit.

Time after time the cases were set for trial and a referee was appointed to take testimony. Mr. Drayton refused all overtures for a settlement until recently, and now this cause celebre will never stop again to set society on edge. Mrs. Drayton is now in the city as is also her mother.
Hallett Allsop Borrowe, who had been a man about town for some years, and is the son of the Vice-President of the Equity Life Insurance Company, is now a superintendent of the trolley cars in Newark, N. J.

Concerning the settlement of the case Mr. R. V. Lindabury, counsel for Mrs.
Drayton, said, in Chancery Chambers, Jersey City, yesterday, that he was waiting for Mr. Drayton's counsel to begin the trial. Mr. Alvah A. Clark, Mr. Drayton's counsel, said he was ready to proceed at any time, and Vice-Chancellor Emery remarked that the case had been referred to him, and that he knew no reason for delay. Counsel for both sides, and also for Borrowe, however, seemed adverse to bringing the case to trial. Mrs. Drayton has frequently visited her children since the rupture, though they were in the custody of the father.

ENGLAND WILL NOT YIELD.

Sir Weetman Pearson, M. P., Says Great Britain Will Not Recognize the Monroe Doctrine This Time.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—"The fitting of the Flying Squadron was merely to show Europe that England was prepared to defend her honor against the nations. I do not think that any one in Great Britain ever thought the squadron was placed in action to be used against the United States."
This was the statement made by Sir Weetman Pearson, M. P., of Colchester, Essex County, England, at the Southern Hotel, yesterday. Sir Weetman, who has contracts with the Mexican Government for the construction of the harbor at Vera Cruz, is en route to that city, accompanied by Lady Pearson.

"When I first heard of your Monroe doctrine declaration," he said, "we thought you had gone crazy. You gave us a terrible shock for a few days."

"There is no doubt that England recognizes the Monroe doctrine in its broad sense, and is willing to abide by it on all occasions except this one. This disputed territory has been claimed by Great Britain for years, and has been ruled by it."
"Since this trouble has arisen there is a growing sentiment in England in favor of a permanent international commission."

Cancels Her Engagement.

Cincinnati, Jan. 27.—Modjeska's engagement at Lexington, Ky., which was to follow her Chicago engagement, has been cancelled.

It is announced that the actress will remain at the Bismarck to-day, where he will so that her recovery may be complete.

ELOPERS, NOT THIEVES.

Hot Chase of a Runaway Couple Who Were Supposed to Have Stolen a Horse.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 25.—There was an exciting chase over the mountain roads near Cottingham on Friday night after supposed fugitives, J. V. Fickel and his wife.

For some time past the residents of that section of Somerset County have been suffering from robbers, who have been raiding the stables and barns. Horses and carriages have been stolen, and the farmers have suffered greatly. On Friday night there was a party in the residence of Constable Van Miller. While the gaiety was at its height, a horse and carriage was heard to pass the house at high speed. The impression was that there had been an other robbery and the robber was escaping with his booty.

At once some of those left the scene of the festivities and chased the supposed fugitives. J. V. Fickel and his wife were Commissioner William Miller and Constable Van Miller and others, with Rev. George Bowers, were pursuing the robbers. The chase was continued for several miles and finally the pursued turned into a yard. The pursuers were then close behind. The house at which the supposed thieves stopped proved to be that of Rev. Mr.

The pursuers were up with the wagon before the occupants alighted, and some of the men, including the Commissioner, the Constable and others, with Rev. George Bowers, were pursuing the robbers. The chase was continued for several miles and finally the pursued turned into a yard. The pursuers were then close behind. The house
at which the supposed thieves
stopped proved to be that of Rev. Mr.

CONVERTED BY A SONG.

"Have Courage, My Boy, to Say No." Brings Repentance to a Wicked Sinner" Who Returns Stolen Booty.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 27.—For nearly a year the numerous tenants of Franklin block have suffered from thefts of various kinds. The detective force failed to discover the thief, who was a clever lock picker and continued his depredations. All the tenants of the block were surprised this morning to find tied to the door knobs of their several offices bundles containing most of the articles stolen from the rooms, and a note, similar in each case, which read as follows:

Sir: I can't return all I have stolen, because I ain't got them, but I put in here all I have of them. I heard at the Temperance Hall a beautiful woman sing "Have Courage, My Boy, to Say No," and it made me feel bad and I thought I was wicked to steal so I return all I have and hope God will forgive me and God will bless you and I have hung the things on your door.

A WICKED SINNER.

The lady whose song converted this sinner is Mrs. Howard Scribner, who has been identified with reform work. President Frake, of the Temperance League, Mrs.
Scribner and the tenants of the block are now anxious to know who stole the goods, as they are desirous of extending to him the welcome and to aid him in his desire to reform.

INQUEST ON MISS HILLS.

Coroner's Jury Finds that the Mamaroneck Woman Died from Lack of Food and Exposure.

Mamaroneck, N. Y., Jan. 27.—Coroner Hanning and a jury this afternoon met at the Town Hall to consider the testimony relative to the death of Miss Mary E. Hills, whose body was found on January 21 in a cottage belonging to her in Bronx-brock Park. District-Attorney George C.
Andrews, who was present, with Sheriff Hanning stated that the body of the certain parties who did not agree with the doctors who made the autopsy and suggested to pay the board. He said that the woman had died from starvation.

Mrs. Julia P. Perrin and Mrs. E. I. Goodwin testified that the dead woman was a light color, and on several occasions they had provided her with cooked food unsolidified. They were her most intimate friends, and said they had never seen her eat. They cook anything in her own house. The house was always cold.

The woman, who had been ill, had been the subject of a complaint of the rejection of her writings. He said he told him that she said to have her writings published. She lived on canned goods, candy, nuts and fruit. The witness was the first to go into the house, and he believed the woman's hands were frozen when he first saw her. Station Agent Cah and Mortimer Gendley corroborated the testimony.

Albert Hills, a neighbor, testified that he and his sister, Mrs. S. Campbell, sent money to the dead woman repeatedly, and suggested to pay the board. He said she would never eat solid food. He said he did not consider his sister perfectly sane.

Letters written by Miss Hills saying that many young men admired her, but she would not have them, were read. Dr.
Miksell also read his report of the autopsy.
The jury returned a verdict finding that the death was due to starvation and exposure.

GEN. JOSEPH H. PORTER DEAD.

He Served in the Civil War and Was a General in the Egyptian Army.

General Joseph H. Porter died at the Grand Hotel at 9:30 o'clock last night. His death was due to heart failure, super-induced by wounds received during the civil war. The deceased was fifty-four years old and was born in Dublin. His parents came to this country when he was quite young and settled in Virginia. After spending some time in the West Point College he graduated with honors shortly before the outbreak of the war.

He enlisted in Company 27 of the New York Infantry, as a drummer boy, and at the close of the war was made a colonel.
He subsequently went to Egypt, where he was made a general after serving some time with the Egyptian army. After returning to this country he continued to practice law. He had an office at No. 90 Nassau street. Joseph H. Porter, Jr., the son of the deceased, is a member of the only one present when death came. Charles Carr and Arthur George Porter, deceased's sons, were also present. They were in the West Point College for last night.
No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

WANAMAKER'S FOREIGN TRIP.

He Sails for the Holy Land on the Steamer Fuert Bismarck To-day.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—Ex-Postmaster General John Wanamaker will sail from New York to-morrow on the steamer Fuert Bismarck for Genoa, Italy, where he will join Mrs. Wanamaker and their daughter, and will proceed to Palestine, where they will make a brief stay.

Schooner Lost with All on Board.

Glochester, Mass., Jan. 27.—The schooner John W. Bray and crew were formally given up for lost by the owner of the vessel to-day. The Bray sailed hence November 17, on a hand-line codfishing trip to the Georges Banks. She was owned by John E. Womack and carried a crew of fourteen men. The Bray was a staunch vessel of 70 tons, built in Essex in 1875 and carried for $2,000. The outfit was insured for $800.

WETTE GUILBERT TO WED AT LAST?

She May Soon Announce Her Engagement to Faithful Teddy Marks.

They Will Sail Together for Europe To-morrow, but Will Return for a Tour of This Country Next Winter.

HAS A FIVE-YEAR CONTRACT NOW.

But the Manager Expects to Make it a Life Contract Soon—She Took Teddy's Part in the Trouble with Oscar Hammerstein.

It was rumored last night among the theatrical folk of this town that Mlle. Yvette Guilbert, the concert hall singer, who has been coming money at the Olympia, and is now touring in the West, will upon the eve of her departure for Paris, announce her engagement to marry Teddy Marks, her business manager.

She has said many times she should never marry, but it has been known for a long while that Mr. Marks stood high in her graces. He met her in Paris in 1891, and they became warm friends. It was he who overcame her prejudice against coming

STRANGLER IN HER HOME.

Mrs. Edmund Tucker, of Yonkers, Choked to Death by an Unknown Man and Her Boy Hurt.

Yonkers, N. Y., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Edmund Tucker was choked to death by a burglar at her home in Central avenue, near Umberhill, this evening. She was found by her husband, who returned later in the evening and discovered that all the doors were locked. Thinking perhaps his wife might be visiting, he enquired of the neighbors, and was told she had not been seen since late in the afternoon. He then returned to his house, and, going to a back window, heard the screams of his three-year-old boy from within.

He opened the window and climbed inside to find his wife lying dead in the hallway, just outside the sitting room door. The little boy was also found to be suffering from a severe cut across the face, and when asked what had caused the trouble, he said that an old man, wearing a slouch hat and a gray overcoat had entered the house and demanded money. When this was refused him he seized Mrs. Tucker and choked her until unconscious. He then struck the boy with a heavy cane which he carried and proceeded to take what valuables he could find.

Among the missing things are a ladies' double-ense gold watch, a gold ring set Mlle. Yvette Guilbert.

The concert hall singer who, after making a great reputation in Paris, captivated New Yorkers, is said to be on the point of entering into a life contract with Manager Teddy Marks. They will sail for Europe to-morrow, and it is expected that the engagement will be announced just before they depart. Yvette promises to return for a tour of this country next winter.

to this country, and made her Oscar Hammerstein's prize attraction at the opening of Olympia.

It is known that when Marks and the doughty Hammerstein had a row, which led to Marks leaving the business management of Olympia, Guilbert stood by her friend, and that within a week she had signed a contract to appear under his management only for the next five years.

Then she began to get ready to leave Hammerstein for a tour of the West, and did not hesitate to attack him in the newspapers. The fight did not last long, for her contract, soon made public, convinced people she was able to paddle her own canoe.

Yvette will sail for Europe to-morrow.
She will return to this country next session during the months of December, January and February. Her tour will be under the direction of Teddy Marks and will include San Francisco, New Orleans and this city. Teddy Marks will sail with Yvette and will establish a foreign agency, with offices in the principal European centres, and will place American specialties there, as well as foreign novelties in the country.

THE LALOR JURY IS OUT.

A Sealed Verdict Will Be Rendered To-day.

Mrs. Lalor to Be Arranged.

The inquest into the death of William Lalor, who was murdered on January 2, at his home in Long Island City, closed last night before Coroner Strong and a jury.
Very little additional evidence was brought to light, and at 9:15 o'clock the jury went out to consider their verdict.

At midnight the jury had not yet come to a decision, and Coroner Strong directed that a sealed verdict be rendered. He then went home.

Mrs. Lalor, whom the police are inclined to think committed the murder, will be arraigned in court this morning.
